

CHURCH AT HOME

Issue 19: August 15th 2020

Welcome, brothers and sisters to the nineteenth edition of "Church at Home".

Matthew 5:45 says - He causes his sun to rise on the evil and the good, and sends rain on the righteous and the unrighteous.

Yesterday afternoon it seemed like it was raining everywhere except on Northumberland Heath and surrounding area! Now I like it hot, but after a week of tropical conditions I joined the English pastime of moaning about the weather. Fortunately, the rain came in the evening and with it (slightly) cooler conditions.

Rain is a well-used metaphor in the Bible. It is used to describe prosperity, healing and most dramatically to describe the effect of the Holy Spirit on us. The effect of standing in the cool rain after a hot spell. The Holy Spirit refreshes, cleaning the dirt, sweat and often tears that have clung to us in times of hardship or in times when we have let ourselves roam far from God.

Even in the present circumstances, if you haven't been able to come to church, the Holy Spirit is there to fill you. Try this breathing prayer

As you breathe in

Breathe in the Holy Spirit

As you breathe out

Breathe out the things of the world

Follow the guidance, encourage each other, pray and stay safe.

Rev Clive

This week's prayer

Living God, as you spoke to the bereft and the orphaned in days past,
Speak to the bereft and the orphaned in days present.
Speak to the uncertain and the anxious.
Speak into the depths of our incomprehension and fear.

Living God, your promise
Is that we will not be left alone to face the world.
We thank you that through the gift of your Spirit
That promise is fulfilled.

Living God, be with all who sustain our common life at this time,
Carers and nurses, cleaners and porters,
Doctors and ambulance staff, delivery drivers and posties.
Through their giving our common life is sustained.

Ask Lauraine

Our resident theological thinker answers your questions.

This week's Questions is: Who would Jesus vote for?

Who would Jesus vote for?

Boris Johnson, in an interview in 2008 when running for Mayor of London, rather foolishly started a biblical quotation that he wasn't able to finish. He had already been challenged on his attitude to Islam. He was at least honest for once about his lack of adherence, when he said: "I suppose my own faith is a bit like trying to get Virgin Radio when you're driving through the Chilterns; it sort of comes and goes." So would Jesus have voted for our current government? Or any of our politicians?

Let's ask a similar question: was Jesus political? Well think about it. Jesus constantly berated the governing authorities, he attracted huge crowds at public events to tell them the kingdom of heaven belonged to them. He stood up against injustice and regularly gave speeches pointing to a new order. That sounds pretty political to me. No he wasn't "party political", but Jesus was one of the most political characters ever to walk the earth.

I am not a socialist.
My Kingdom is not of this earth.
How many times do I have to tell you this!

Which side is Jesus on? In being on the side of each and all, Jesus takes no side at all. Instead of reducing Jesus' message to a particular political platform, it is for politics to conform itself to Jesus' message. When it does so, you will find a truly radical politics, one that is more than likely to vex the mighty, raise the humble, and discomfort the comfortable.

But remember that when Jesus comes again GOD's kingdom will be here and HE will reign.

No voting necessary

A message from our friend Jonathan Veira

Greetings to you all. It is many months since I have written to you, it has been difficult to know what to write in these strange times that we find ourselves in. May God be with us all as we cautiously start to emerge from lockdown – so strange isn't it, things that were 'normal' just a few months ago we hesitate to do.

Of course, lockdown meant all concerts were cancelled. At first, we thought that maybe lockdown would not last long, surely everything would be sorted by June at the latest? We had no clue did we? At present it seems quite possible with the current news that there will be no more concerts this year. So, no income, no prospective income no activity, stay in, what now Lord? What's the plan?

The prospect of so long without doing anything for Jonathan was not going to do him any good at all so. So, Sue came up with the idea of putting something out on Facebook starting with a few songs. These were very well received. They loved the idea of doing a concert but how?! They thought putting something out on a Sunday night via Facebook for anyone at a loose end with an hour to spare would be good - and so Sunday Evenings from the Steinway Room with Jonathan was born. The Steinway Room is in fact their rather small study in Guildford which is dominated by their Steinway grand piano and Sunday evenings are now going out to an audience of thousands each week all around the world from Australia to Norway, USA to St Vincent and all parts of the UK. The numbers watching each evening continue to rise and Jonathan and Sue have been astonished and overwhelmed by the response to these Sunday evenings which soon became 2-hour slots with him interviewing all sorts of people, raising money for various charities and asking for suggestions for song content each week

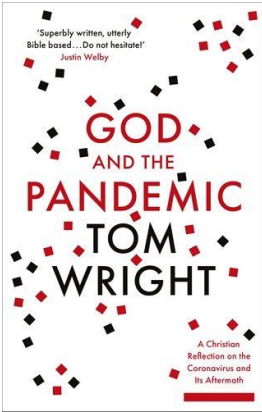

It was almost as good as having Jonathan and Sue in your lounge, with personal dedications and requests, many of them songs which Jonathan had never sung in public, with only the piano, a mouth organ, maybe even his banjo to accompany him. Sue also joined him and sang with him sometimes and exchanged banter with Jonathan and the audience and more and more people listened as people 'shared' on Facebook. 8pm on Sunday Evenings for thousands was a date they wanted to keep. From the start, people responded to each song, chatting to each other at the same time via Facebook. When someone mentioned that they were ill with Corona Virus, people suddenly offered prayer and comforting words. The next week, everyone wanted to know how Rob was, and so the 'JV Community' was born. God really has turned potential disaster into a fantastic opportunity for Jonathan to reach a bigger audience across the UK and globally than he would have ever believed in the space of 18 weeks.

Of course, through all of this, Jonathan's health continues to give cause for concern. You will be aware from the last prayer letter that Jonathan's kidneys have been failing for about 18 months. At the beginning of the year a kidney transplant was planned for the summer months with every hope that Jonathan would be able to return to concerts in the autumn but then the pandemic happened and all operations were cancelled, as no doubt some of you experienced. Jonathan's latest blood test showed a further deterioration and fortunately Sue is both able and willing to donate one of her kidneys and it is a match for Jonathan. Both of them will undergo operations when Jonathan will have one of Sue's kidneys and the transplant is now planned for October/November. Sue has undergone numerous tests to ensure that her kidney is suitable and that she is healthy enough to do this. Jonathan must have an angiogram at the beginning of October to ensure that his heart/arteries are healthy enough to withstand the operation. Providing this does not highlight any problems everything should go ahead – Covid permitting. Having the operation at this time when concerts cannot take place anyway is the best possible time and gives them both a good recovery opportunity also. We feel that God has had His hand in this plan once again.

Books

This week's book suggestions come from eden.co.uk

God and the Pandemic by Tom Wright

What are we supposed to think about the coronavirus crisis? Some people think they know: 'This is a sign of the End,' they say. 'It's all predicted in the book of Revelation.' Others disagree but are equally clear: 'This is a call to repent. God is judging the world' Tom Wright examines these reactions to the virus and finds them wanting. Instead, he invites you to consider a different way of seeing and responding – a way that draws on the teachings and examples of scripture, and above all on the way of living, thinking and praying revealed to us by Jesus.

Gentle and Lowly by Dane Ortlund

Christians know that God loves them, but can easily feel that he is perpetually disappointed and frustrated, maybe even close to giving up on them.

As a result, they focus a lot—and rightly so—on what Jesus has done to appease God's wrath for sin. But how does Jesus Christ actually feel about his people amid all their sins and failures?

This book draws us to Matthew 11, where Jesus describes himself as "gentle and lowly in heart," longing for his people to find rest in him.

God On Mute by Pete Greig

Writing out of the pain of his wife's fight for her life, but also the wonder of watching the prayer movement they founded changing lives around the world, Pete Greig steps into the dark side of prayer and emerges with a hard-won message of hope, comfort, and profound biblical insight for all who suffer in silence.

It feels as if the UK and the rest of the world have been in a storm for the last few months, with little sign of it passing over anytime soon. And so, I am reminded of the story of Jesus calming the storm. While the disciples grew anxious and began to panic as the storm raged, Jesus woke up and quickly calmed it. Jesus brought peace in the midst of chaos and fear.

As we continue to face the storm of the coronavirus pandemic, we must look to Jesus. We are to be a non-anxious presence to those around us. What does this look like?

Let us pray for peace over ourselves and our own hearts, that we may display faith in the midst of fear.

Let us pray for those around us who may be struggling, for those who need strength at this time.

Let us pray for the world, that God would bring His peace and bring order out of chaos.

As Christians, we need to reflect our faith in God as we stand on the Rock of Ages during times of trial. We need to be sensible and adhere to the guidelines given to us, but we should not be gripped by fear. Instead, we should fix our eyes on the Prince of Peace as we strive to be people of peace.

Every blessing,

Gavin Calver
CEO

On His Blindness by John Milton

WHEN I consider how my light is spent
E're half my days, in this dark world and wide,
And that one Talent which is death to hide,
Lodg'd with me useless, though my Soul more bent
To serve therewith my Maker, and present 5
My true account, least he returning chide,
Doth God exact day-labour, light deny'd,
I fondly ask; But patience to prevent
That murmur, soon replies, God doth not need
Either man's work or his own gifts, who best 10
Bear his milde yোক, they serve him best, his State
Is Kingly. Thousands at his bidding speed
And post o're Land and Ocean without rest:
They also serve who only stand and waite.

Milton was deeply religious and lost his sight when he was in his forties. This was probably to do with his job. He worked for the government and did a lot of reading and writing well into the dark nights. The poem is written in the form of an Italian sonnet: fourteen lines. The first eight are called an octet and the next six are a sestet. Milton's sonnet is autobiographical. He begins with telling us that he has deeply considered his state of blindness. God gave him one talent which he feels is now useless. He wants to continue serving God in a meaningful way, but this ability is now denied him. He finally comes to realise that we can serve God in a number of ways. Those who 'best bear his milde yোক, they serve him best'. We can serve God with patience, humility and peace. We don't have to be active in a hardworking, physical way. To be calm, silent, obedient and loving are very important qualities to God.

'They also serve who only stand and waite' CO'C

Lockdown March 2020

I'm a ball of spikes and cause problems in the human body
My targets are people with weak immune systems
But my weakness is HEAT, that KILLS me.

The world has come to lockdown, history for us all.
Months of disease, people ill, people dying.
I SPREAD LIKE FIRE!

All the humans are indoors trying to block me out.
I can hear them saying "We don't want the disease"
"We want to ease our bodies"

The NHS are working around the clock to heal the humans.
To get rid of me.
I need to go, I need to disappear and let the world heal.

I am sorry I was here; history is what I have made 2020.
Coronavirus is my name.

Callum Kaisi (Scout) Aged 12

When your heart is heavy,
When your sleep's disturbed,
You've nothing to get up for
And no one seems to care.

He will share your burdens
And put a smile on your woeful face.
He'll put his arms around you
And you'll melt in His embrace.

Put your faith in Him who made you
Not to give up, nor give in.
Life can be hard and cruel,
But let the Saviour in.

So, focus on the Prince of Peace
His love is unsurpassed.
Your life will have new meaning
It will change, good times will last.

The Vicar's Letter

Dear Everybody,

Now that the National Day of Prayer is over I wonder how many of us have given it any continued serious thought, or indeed, any thought at all. If this Day is to mean anything to us do not let us rely upon just one Day of Prayer and hope that it will be effective. We work or want the Government say, and if the miner has to continue his efforts every day how much more should we continue in prayer. We pray or perish is certainly true. One person working in the Holy Spirit has behind him all the resources of God. Let us then remember our dedication that God's blessing may rest upon us, and through us, upon our Nation. Let us remember once again the objects of that National Day of Prayer: 1.—To examine our lives. 2.—To repent. 3.—To ask for God's guidance in our duty to God and to our neighbour. 4.—Daily to ask for help to meet the day's demands.

The Church.

There is a great deal of activity in the Church at the moment and anyone arriving in the evening is liable to have a spade or hammer put into his hands. I would like to thank those members of the Working Committee who are putting so much time and work into Church repairs.

The Sunday School is growing in numbers and we have many new scholars from the Lesney Park Estate and from around Shinglewell Road. There is perhaps no work so privileged nor so important as teaching children about Jesus their Saviour. Well begun is half done. Can YOU help in the Sunday School? We need you.

The Home and Family Week will be held in Erith from October 6th to 11th and many important people will be talking to us about putting Homes into Houses. There will be an Exhibition, talks, discussions and films as well as morning, afternoon and evening refreshments. This will be an Exhibition for father as well as for mother, for youth as well as for children. The heart of the community is the FAMILY.

God bless you all,

A. A. CHAPMAN, Vicar.
